EndoActive is a not for profit association committed to actively raising awareness of Endometriosis, advocating for women and girls with Endo, providing information and promoting early diagnosis.

The 1st National Endo Conference will be held at the Charles Perkins Centre, the University of Sydney, Camperdown NSW. The organising committee is confident that the conference will attract in excess of 300 delegates including GPs, specialists, researchers and consumers.

Awareness • Information • Advocacy

The 1st National Endo conference is designed to:

- Inform consumers of current trends in treatment of Endo
- Update medical practitioners and health professionals about Endo
- Report on current research in Australia

Endo affects one in ten women, which is half a million in Australia alone. It could be your mum, sister, daughter or wife - that's a cause worth standing up for.
